Global Campus Events
“Being at University can be the best experience of your life but you can’t do it alone. Through global campus events I want you to get the great Yorkshire tradition of friendship which is important with everything we do.

“My role is to help you get the best possible student experience by providing opportunities for you to make friends, get involved in many different events and represent your culture on campus.

“The Global Campus Events team works to bring all students together irrespective of where they come from. I can help you to get together with students from your own country as well as offering the opportunity to meet, socialise, and network with students from around the globe.

“Over the year I will support our global societies to host events, social gatherings and trips which give opportunities not only to meet, engage and make friends with different people but also the chance to build networks and gain contacts in your required field of education.”

Becky Maulkinson

“It can be hard to meet new people and talk to others which is something I really struggle with, but through attending the Global Campus Events I have gained so much confidence and met lots of new friends. Gaining more cultural awareness is such a great thing and I’m so happy to have the opportunity to meet so many lovely people from around the world.”

Khoa Minh Tah

“The University is not only a place for studying, but also a place for me to enrich my student experience throughout lots of campus events. By getting involved in the University’s activities, I am always active; have chance to make new friends, to know more about new cultures and also learn new languages. A word to say my experience is ‘fulfilled’.”

Chris Wainwright

“Being a part of Global Campus Events has had a huge impact on my life. I have made friends from around the world and grown as a person. For anyone apprehensive about taking part, my advice is this: everyone has a story to tell and they’re more than happy to share it.”

Roxana Dumitrascu

“One of the best decisions I took once I started the University was to take part in all the events organised by students, for students and supported by the University. In this way, I managed to know a lot of people, to make a lot of friends from different countries, to find and see different cultures and traditions.”

Deepika Sagar Sharma

“I have made some amazing friends, got to know the student societies and familiarised myself with University. I have loved all the events on and off campus and being a part of some of them has added to all the fun. It’s through these events that I got to learn about so many different cultures and met people from around the globe, all this at one place.”

Chaofan Niu

“I have met many new friends and people by joining student societies. By joining in with the activities, you can talk with your friends about the many new experiences and even get try out some British pubs.”
What is it?
Sponsored by the International Office, this festival has evolved to be one of the biggest and most anticipated events on campus each year. Hosted by the University’s global student societies, the festival showcases the very best in culture and cuisine.

Different nationalities host their own food from around the world and also perform on stage with songs, dance, games, fashion and instruments. It is a great way to represent your culture and make new friends along the way.

When is it?
It takes place in terms/semesters 1 and 2. Dates change each year so please check with the International Office.

How to get involved?
Please message the Global Campus Events team with your ideas, suggestions and to book your place as this event soon fills up and sells out. If you play an instrument or have something you can bring over from your own country that you can perform at the festival then let us know:

Spring Festival/
Lunar New Year
What is it?
A festival showcasing tradition and culture in many Asian countries.
This New Year festival is known as Têt in Vietnam and Seollal in South Korea and is traditionally a time to be with family. In China, it is celebrated on the first day of the New Year (Chúyī) and the last day of the previous year (Chúxī).

When is it?
The dates are calculated according to the lunar calendar, hence it changes every year but usually falls between 21 January – 20 February.

Cari Anderson
“I had a great experience watching and performing at the Chinese Evening Gala on campus. It gave me a unique opportunity to become briefly immersed in a totally different culture. I learnt about the many different traditional Chinese performances and had a great time speaking to other international students.”

How to get involved?
Our students and global student societies host New Year festivities on campus throughout the day and evening both on and off campus. Please message the Campus Events team with your ideas and ways to get involved.
The celebrations are open to all students and staff.

What is it?

A whole week on campus devoted to cultural celebration, inclusion and fun.

There are lots of events, activities for everybody to get involved with or even host. You have the opportunity to get involved with sports tournaments, food festivals, cultural events, workshops, support, advice and prize-givings.

The week allows students from both the UK and around the world to showcase their cultures and make new friends along the way.

When is it?

It usually takes place in March, and occurs annually.

Jaden Ricky Clark

“Being involved with global campus events gave me a platform to continue meeting passionate and pleasant students who drive to communicate, learn and interact with absolutely anyone. Events like ‘International Week’ connects people regardless of ethnicity and promotes differences while creating friendships, comradeship, and teamwork and is the most welcome a student could feel.”

How to get involved?

Most events are FREE and easy to get involved with. Check out the timetable of events or even e-mail the Campus Events team to suggest ideas or look at hosting your own event as part of the week:
