Admissions Interview Policy (Taught Courses)

1. Purpose and Context

This policy provides guidance in relation to the interviewing of applicants to some courses within the university.

2. Scope

This policy applies to all interviews conducted to assess the suitability of applicants to University of Huddersfield undergraduate and taught postgraduate courses and which result in a formal offer or reject decision on an application to study at the University. Informal meetings with University staff, where prospective applicants can discuss the University's courses, entry requirements and their suitability for selected programmes, are not considered interviews in the context of this policy.

3. Why do we interview?

For the majority of courses, the University does not require applicants to be interviewed as part of its recruitment process, although applicants who are made an offer of a place on a course may be invited to an Applicant Visit Day post-offer.

In some cases, however, the University will interview applicants if it is felt that this is the best method of identifying potential for study, and/or where there is a relevant legal/regulatory requirement or guideline.

4. Selection criteria

Appropriate selection criteria and assessment methods should be documented and agreed in advance of an interview process. Criteria and assessment methods used should be consistent with the University's Admissions Policy.

5. Scheduling

Interviews should be scheduled as flexibly as possible to minimise the chance of applicants being unable to complete this part of the selection process. This should include, where possible, publishing in advance the likely interview dates, providing adequate notice when inviting an applicant to an interview and offering applicants an alternative interview date (if requested) where possible.

If the University cancels or postpones an interview, applicants should be offered a revised interview date.

A revised interview date may not be offered if the applicant fails to attend an interview without informing the University in advance.

The University may conduct telephone or SKYPE interviews if appropriate (for example for international applicants who may not be able to travel to the campus). In some cases legal or regulatory requirements may mean this option is not available. Telephone or SKYPE interviews should follow the same principles and guidance as face-to-face interviews.

6. Travel and accommodation costs

The University does not routinely refund the costs applicants may incur when travelling to an interview. If refunds are available this will be made clear when applicants are invited to interview.

7. Prior to the interview

Applicants will be made aware in advance via the online course materials if a course requires an interview as part of the admission process, with details of the processes, criteria and nature of the interview assessment being made available. More detailed information should be supplied to those invited to an interview.

Applicants should be invited to provide details prior to the interview of any medical, special or cultural needs that should be taken into consideration to allow any reasonable adjustments to be made.

8. During the interview

Procedures should be in place to verify the identity of the interviewee for both face-to-face and telephone/SKYPE interviews.

Interviews may take place on an individual basis and/or within small groups. Applicants will not normally be accompanied into an interview by a third party unless such a request has been made in advance of the interview date and is considered as a reasonable adjustment. Requests for reasonable adjustments for applicants with specific requirements will be referred to the University's Wellbeing and Disability Service for advice and assessment.

Interviewers should not enter into discussion about the equivalence of qualifications with applicants (queries about the equivalence of such qualifications should be noted and then discussed with the Recruitment Team).

Interviewers should not refer to choices made to other Higher Education Institutions, if the applicant has applied via UCAS.

Interviewers should ensure that they follow agreed procedures for keeping a record of the interview and ensure that such records are handled in line with the University's Record Retention Policy.

Interviewers should not make verbal offers of a place to applicants.

9. After the interview

Following the interview the outcome should be communicated to the applicant as quickly as possible (normally within three weeks). If there is to be any delay in communicating a decision (for example if all interviews are conducted before decisions are communicated) the applicant should be notified. Communication with applicants about decisions/offers following an interview must be coordinated by the Recruitment Team.
